JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

COMPLAINT

Emily Davis (“Ms. Davis”) was targeted by Sgt. Brian Rossomanno while she was peacefully protesting on September 15, 2017. Sgt. Rossomanno called Ms. Davis out by name and then doused her posterior with pepper spray in retaliation for her protesting. Two nights later, St. Louis Municipal police officers unlawfully pepper sprayed and violently zip tied Ms. Davis as a part of mass kettling arrest.

16. John Does #1-5 are as of yet unidentified police officers with the St. Louis Metropolitan Police Department. These unnamed defendants arrested Plaintiff, used chemical munitions against Plaintiff, beat Plaintiff, prevented Plaintiff from leaving the area, and unlawfully arrested Plaintiff. Plaintiff has been unable to identify these officers removed their name tags from the uniforms in violation of guidance promulgated by the U.S. Department of Justice and standard law enforcement practices. Further, the officers wore masks concealing their faces. But for their own actions, these officers could have been identified.

17. Plaintiff is a resident of St. Louis County who was in St. Louis to attend demonstrations protesting Officer Jason Stockley's acquittal of the first-degree murder of Anthony Lamar Smith.

FACTS

A. Backdrop of Stockley Verdict

18. On Friday, September 15, 2017, after a four-day bench trial, a Missouri Circuit Court Judge acquitted Officer Jason Stockley of the first-degree murder of Anthony Lamar Smith. See Exh. A, Stockley Verdict.

19. This acquittal shocked many in the St. Louis community as an audio recording submitted into evidence in the trial captured Officer Stockley saying "we're killing this motherfucker, don't you know" in reference to Mr. Smith. Id. at 5.

20. Further, evidence showed that during the incident Officer Stockley was in possession of an assault rifle that had not been issued to him by the SLMPD. Id. at 23.

21. In addition, Officer Stockley claimed to find a gun in Mr. Smith's car after he killed Mr. Smith. Id. at 25.

22. Only Officer Stockley's DNA was found on the gun, leading many, including the Circuit Attorney of the City of St. Louis, to believe that Stockley planted the gun on Mr. Smith after Mr. Smith's death, in an effort to justify the killing. Id. at 12.

23. At trial, Officer Stockley's partner did not testify in Stockley's defense. Rather, the partner invoked his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination.¹

B. Protests Begin After the Verdict

24. Following the announcement of the Stockley Verdict, public protests began at multiple locations in St. Louis and surrounding communities.

25. To many in the St. Louis community, Officer Stockley's acquittal was yet another example of white St. Louis-area police officers killing African-American citizens with impunity.

26. Further, in the view of the protestors, the acquittal further supported their view that the American criminal justice system does not believe that Black lives matter.

27. In response to the protests, St. Louis Metropolitan police officers amassed at several protests wearing military-like tactical dress, helmets, batons, and full-body riot shields and carrying chemicals, such as tear gas, skunk, inert smoke, pepper gas, pepper pellets, xylol bromide, and/or similar substances (collectively, "chemical agents").

28. This is in stark contrast to SLMPD's appearance at a multitude of other unpermitted protests where the police themselves are not the target of the protest, including an anti-

Donald Trump march on November 13, 2016, the St. Louis Women's March on January 21, 2017, the St. Louis LGBTQIA March and Rally on February 22, 2017, and the St. Louis March for Science on April 22, 2017.

29. Virtually all of the protests were non-violent.

30. On three occasions, a handful of protesters committed minor property damage, including broken windows and broken flower pots.

31. During the Stockley protests, SLMPD police officers without warning deployed chemical agents against individuals observing, recording, or participating in protest activity, including but not limited to the following:

a. The afternoon of Friday, September 15, 2017, near the intersection of Clark and Tucker Avenues.

b. The evening of Friday, September 15, 2017, near the intersection of McPherson and Euclid Avenues.

c. The evening of Friday, September 15, 2017, near the intersection of Waterman and Kingshighway Boulevards.

d. The evening of Friday, September 15, 2017, near the intersection of Lindell and Euclid Avenues.

e. The evening of Friday, September 15, 2017, near the intersection of Euclid and Maryland Avenues.

f. The evening of Friday, September 15, 2017, near the intersection of Lindell and Kingshighway Boulevards.

g. The evening of Friday, September 15, 2017, near the intersection of Euclid Avenue and Pershing Place.

- h. The evening of Friday, September 15, 2017, on Hortense Place.
 - i. The evening of Sunday, September 17, 2017, near the intersection of Tucker Boulevard and Washington Avenue.
 - j. The evening of September 29, 2017 outside of Busch Stadium.
32. These incidents are consistent with the pattern and practice of SLMPD of indiscriminately using chemical agents without warning.

C. Post-Ferguson Federal Court Proceedings

33. On December 11, 2014, a federal judge in this District issued a temporary restraining order enjoining the SLMPD from enforcing any rule, policy, or practice that grants law enforcement officials the authority or discretion to:

- (1) utilize tear gas, inert smoke, pepper gas, or other chemical agents (collectively, “chemical agents”) for the purpose of dispersing groups of individuals who are engaged in peaceful, non-criminal activity in the City of St. Louis or in the County of St. Louis
 - (a) without first issuing clear and unambiguous warnings that such chemical agents will be utilized;
 - (b) without providing the individuals sufficient opportunity to heed the warnings and exit the area;
 - (c) without minimizing the impact of such chemical agents on individuals who are complying with lawful law enforcement commands; and
 - (d) without ensuring that there is a means of safe egress from the area that is available to the individuals; and
- (2) utilize chemical agents on individuals engaged in peaceful, non-criminal activity in the City of St. Louis or in the County of St. Louis for the purpose of frightening them or punishing them for exercising their constitutional rights.

See Exh. B, Temporary Restraining Order in Templeton v. Dotson, No. 4:14-cv-02019 (E.D. Mo. Dec. 11, 2014) at 3.

34. This suit was in response to SLMPD firing chemical agents into a business where peaceful protestors had congregated without allowing the protestors to leave.

35. The City entered into a settlement agreement on March 25, 2015, where it agreed as follows:

A. Defendants and their agents, servants, employees, and representatives, will not enforce any rule, policy, or practice that grants law enforcement officials the authority or discretion to:

(1) utilize tear gas, inert smoke, pepper gas, or other chemical agents (collectively, “chemical agents”) for the purpose of dispersing groups of individuals who are engaged in non-criminal activity:

(a) without first issuing clear and unambiguous warnings that such chemical agents will be utilized;

(b) without providing the individuals sufficient opportunity to heed the warnings and exit the area;

(c) without reasonably attempting to minimize the impact of such chemical agents on individuals who are complying with lawful law enforcement commands; and

(d) without ensuring that there is a means of safe egress from the area that is available to the individuals and announcing this means of egress to the group of individuals.

(2) utilize chemical agents on individuals engaged in non-criminal activity for the purpose of frightening them or punishing them for exercising their constitutional rights.

B. Provided, however, that Paragraph A hereof shall not be applicable to situations that turn violent and persons at the scene present an imminent threat of bodily harm to persons or damage to property, and when law enforcement officials must defend themselves or other persons or property against such imminent threat.

See Exh. C, Settlement Agreement in Templeton v. Dotson, No. 4:14-cv-02019 (E.D. Mo. Mar. 25, 2015) at 1-2.

D. SLMPD Violations of the Consent Decree

36. Less than two months after entering into this Consent Decree, SLMPD began to violate the Decree.

37. On May 19, 2015, in response to protests over the St. Louis Circuit Attorney’s office’s refusal to charge another SLMPD officer for killing another African-American man, SLMPD officers deployed chemical agents against peaceful, non-criminal protestors without warning. See Exh. D, Transcript of Testimony, Volume 1, Ahmad v. St. Louis, No. 4:17-cv-02455 (E.D. Mo. Oct. 18, 2017) at 69.

38. On August 19, 2015, a protest occurred because SLMPD officers killed another African-American man in the Fountain Park neighborhood. According to the testimony of Sarah Molina, a local attorney, SLMPD officers indiscriminately used chemical agents without giving an audible and intelligible warning at the intersection of Walton Avenue and Page Boulevard. Id. at 50-52. Molina testified that SLMPD officers fired chemical agents at her without giving her an opportunity to leave. Id. SLMPD officers continued using chemical agents against people fleeing the area and even fired chemical agents at people peacefully standing on or in their own properties. Id. Thirty minutes after the protests had dissipated, SLMPD officers returned and fired chemical agents at Ms. Molina, who was standing on property that she owns. Id.

39. On July 21, 2017, SLMPD officers used chemical agents against people protesting the treatment of detainees in the St. Louis City Workhouse. Id. at 71, 91. Although a few people did engage in unlawful activity earlier in the night, SLMPD officers pepper sprayed numerous people, none of whom were involved in criminal activity or were even at the same location as the criminal activity. These protesters were engaged in non-violent protesting when SLMPD officers sprayed them with chemical agents. Id.

E. The Evening of September 15, 2017

40. On September 15, 2017, at around 8:30 PM, Ms. Davis went to the Central West End neighborhood of St. Louis to join a clergy-led gathering.

41. Ms. Davis and her friend parked on Lindell Boulevard and then rode bicycles to the site of the gathering on Euclid Avenue.

42. Ms. Davis took a photograph of people sitting in the street and posted it to Facebook at 8:34 PM.

43. Ms. Davis observed several groups begin to march north on Euclid near Maryland Avenue.

44. Ms. Davis was unsure which direction the majority of protesters were headed, so she and her friend rode their bicycles west on Waterman Boulevard across Kingshighway to try to see where protesters were gathered.

45. As Ms. Davis and her friend approached Lake, Ms. Davis moved to meet the several dozen people gathered north of Waterman.

46. As Ms. Davis and her friend approached the intersection of Waterman and Washington, a line of police officers walked into the intersection.

47. Ms. Davis observed Sergeant Rossomanno shouting at the protesters to leave.

48. As Ms. Davis and others turned to leave, Ms. Davis noticed a police officer yank a bicycle out from under the man riding the bicycle which resulted in the man being knocked off the bicycle with the bicycle falling on top of him.

49. Ms. Davis observed that the man who was knocked off his bicycle had been carrying medical supplies in a crate attached to his bicycle.

50. After the man fell from his bicycle, Ms. Davis reached over to try to help him off the ground.

51. As Ms. Davis was trying to help the man up from the ground, Sgt. Rossomanno approached Ms. Davis from behind, called Ms. Davis by her name and yelled at her to leave the area.

52. The fact that Sgt. Rossomanno knew Ms. Davis by name and yelled her name stood out to Ms. Davis.

53. At the time, Sgt. Rossomanno was approximately five feet behind Ms. Davis.

54. Instantly and without warning, Sgt. Rossomanno sprayed Ms. Davis's posterior. Ms. Davis estimates the spray came from twelve to 18 inches away.

55. Sgt. Rossomanno then yelled that Ms. Davis had two seconds to get out of the area.

56. Without verbal warning or other notice, Sgt. Rossomanno continued toward Ms. Davis, reached his arm around the front of Ms. Davis and sprayed her face and hair.

57. The spray made it difficult for Ms. Davis to see.

58. Ms. Davis discontinued assistance to the man who had been knocked from his bicycle, and she was led away to safety by her friend.

59. Sgt. Rossomanno made no attempt to arrest Ms. Davis.

60. Before getting sprayed, Ms. Davis did not hear any orders to disperse.

61. Ms. Davis was not breaking any laws at the time, and nothing about the situation would lead any unbiased observer to believe that Sgt. Rossomanno was in any danger at the time he sprayed Ms. Davis.

62. Ms. Davis was held for approximately 15 hours.

F. The Buildup to the Kettling on September 17, 2017

63. This pattern and practice of utilizing chemical agents on individuals engaged in peaceful, non-criminal activity continued on September 17, 2017.

64. According to Defendant Rossomanno, on September 17, 2017, between 8:00 PM and 9:00 PM, a handful of individuals broke windows and destroyed flower pots on the 900, 1000, and 1100 blocks of Olive Street in downtown St. Louis. See Exh. E, Transcript of Testimony, Volume 1, Ahmad v. St. Louis, No. 4:17-cv-02455 (E.D. Mo. Oct. 18, 2017) at 188.

65. There is no evidence nor allegations that Plaintiff was in any way involved in this destruction of property.

66. Defendant Rossomanno also testified that at approximately 8:48 PM the small number of protestors present at the time were ordered to disperse and could “be subject to arrest and/or chemical munitions.” See Exh. F, Rossomanno Declaration, Ahmad v. St. Louis, No. 4:17-cv-02455 (E.D. Mo. Oct. 12, 2017), Doc. 33-6 at 4.

67. Defendant Rossomanno testified that a second dispersal order was given at 8:51 PM. Id. at 5.

68. Although Defendant Sachs heard some sort of order being given, he testified that he could not make out “exactly what was being said.” See Exh. E at 25.

G. The Kettling

69. Over the next two plus hours, SLMPD officers began blocking roads and directing civilians to the intersection of Washington Avenue and Tucker Boulevard.

70. Defendant Karnowski testified that he and the officers under his command began to “push (the protestors) north” toward Washington Avenue and Tucker Boulevard. See Exh. E at 125-126. He also testified that he determined that the protest that evening was an “unlawful assembly.” Id. at 136-137.

71. This area is home to many condominiums, apartment buildings, and businesses, including restaurants and bars.

72. Defendant Sachs came up with the plan to arrest everyone present. See Exh. E at 27. He presented his plan to Defendant Leyshock, who approved the plan. Id. The plan was to not let anyone leave that was in the vicinity of Washington Avenue and Tucker Boulevard. Id. at 27-40.

73. At approximately 11:15 PM or 11:20 PM, SLMPD officers began forming into lines.

74. This was nearly three hours after the windows and flower pots were broken and many blocks away from the damaged businesses.

75. SLMPD's Civil Disobedience Team appeared at the scene.

76. A line of officers extended across all of the street and sidewalk on Washington Avenue one block west of Tucker Boulevard.

77. A line of officers extended across all of the street and sidewalk on Tucker Boulevard one block north of Washington Avenue.

78. A line of officers extended across all of the street and sidewalk on Tucker Boulevard one block south of Washington Avenue.

79. All three of these lines were comprised of officers all wearing military-like tactical dress, including helmets. These officers were carrying long wooden batons and full-body riot shields.

80. A fourth line of extended across all of the street and sidewalk on Washington Avenue one half block east of Tucker Boulevard.

81. These officers were carrying bicycles and were being directed by Defendant Boyher. See Exh. E at 30-31.

82. Each of the four lines began to approach the intersection of Washington Avenue and Tucker Boulevard.

83. Without further instruction or warning, SLMPD officers surrounded Downtown residents, business patrons, protestors, observers, and members of the press, cutting off all routes of egress - including via any sidewalk - and prohibiting the people trapped inside from leaving.

84. As they approached, the SLMPD police officers began banging batons against their riot shields and the street in unison causing a foreboding and terrifying sound, akin to a war march.

85. As the SLMPD police officers began to close in on the citizens that SLMPD had forced into the intersection of Washington Avenue and Tucker Boulevard, the officers blocked anyone from leaving the area.

86. Video evidence shows multiple citizens approaching officers and requesting to be let through. These peaceful and lawful requests were not only ignored but responded to by screams of “get back!” See Exh. G.

87. In addition, the closing phalanxes of officers cut off access to all alleys and other means of egress.

88. As the four lines closed, they trapped everyone who was within a one-block radius of the intersection of Washington Avenue and Tucker Boulevard.

89. This is a law enforcement tactic known as “kettling.”

90. The SLMPD police officers kettled self-admitted protestors, residents who merely lived in the area, people visiting businesses in the area, reporters, documentarians, a homeless person, and even an undercover SLMPD officer.

91. Video evidence even shows the officers grabbing an African-American male who was outside of the kettle and throwing him into the kettle.

92. As the kettle closed, video evidence shows many individuals approaching the officers and begging to pass.

93. Not surprisingly, the individuals in the kettle gravitated toward the line of bicycle officers rather than three lines of police in military gear, who were banging wooden batons against their riot shields.

94. Video evidence shows individuals peacefully approaching the bicycle officers with their hands up.

95. In response, the bicycle officers began to aggressively jab at the individuals using their bicycles as battering rams.

96. Almost instantly and in unison, the other individuals in the kettle put their hands in the air as a sign of peaceful surrender.

97. Many laid prostrate on the ground. Others sat down. And others, who could not fully get to the ground because of the mass of people inside of the kettle, got as close to the ground as possible.

98. Even though video evidence shows that none of the individuals inside the kettle were acting violently or aggressively, the individuals in the kettle were indiscriminately and repeatedly doused with chemical agents without warning.

99. Many were kicked, beaten, and dragged.

100. Upon information and belief, an undercover African-American SLMPD police officer who was at the intersection was arrested and beaten by other SLMPD police officers merely for being inside the kettle.

101. Some individuals caught in the kettle had been wearing goggles because they feared the deployment of chemical agents, based on the SLMPD's well known pattern and practice of using chemical agents against peaceful protestors.

102. Others found paper masks on the ground or other objects in order to protect themselves as it became apparent that SLMPD was preparing to effectuate illegal and likely violent arrests.

103. In response, SLMPD officers roughly removed the goggles and then sprayed some of those individuals directly in the face.

104. At the same time, SLMPD officers screamed derogatory and homophobic epithets at individuals as they were being arrested.

105. These punitive measures were delivered without regard to the fact that the individuals were peaceful and compliant.

106. SLMPD officers using hard plastic zip ties to arrest all of the individuals. Over two months later, several continue to suffer from pain and numbness in their hands due to the tightness of the zip ties.

107. Over 100 people were arrested that night.

108. During and after the arrests, SLMPD officers were observed high fiving each other, smoking celebratory cigars, taking selfies on their personal phones with arrestees against the arrestees will, and chanting “Whose Streets? Our Streets!”

109. That evening, the following celebratory picture was posted on Twitter by an anonymous person:

110. By the coordinated actions of the officers in circling the assembly into the kettle and the systematic disbursement of the chemical agents, it is clear that these tactics were planned and that senior officials of the SLMPD not only had notice of but actually sanctioned the conduct of Defendants.

H. The Police Department Intentionally Ignored Its Own Policies

111. When detaining individuals in custody who require medical care, the City of St. Louis and its SLMPD has established the following policy:

PRISONERS REQUIRING MEDICAL ATTENTION (72.6.1)

1. A medical emergency is defined as a condition which a reasonable person would expect a result in loss of life or function. Examples of medical emergencies include severe bleeding, fractures with displacement (bone out of alignment), loss of consciousness, non-responsiveness, and respiratory distress, severe chest pain or severe shortness of breath. This list is not all-inclusive. If you have any doubts, contact the on-duty nurse at the City Justice Center for guidance.
2. Should a prisoner require emergency medical attention, whether the injury or illness occurred during incarceration or not, an Emergency Medical Service (EMS) unit will be requested to respond to the holdover for medical evaluation and if necessary conveyance to the hospital. EMS will determine the destination hospital. An I/LEADS report will be prepared documenting all treatment received by the prisoner. If immediate first aid is administered by a Department employee or the paramedics, the injury and treatment will be noted in the Prisoner's Log Book by the booking clerk.

3. Should a prisoner require non-emergency medical attention, the on-duty nurse at the City Justice Center will be contacted for guidance.
4. The confidential relationship of doctor and patient extends to prisoner patients and their physician.
5. In the event a prisoner is injured while in custody or shortly before being taken into custody, the Watch Commander will arrange to have photographs taken of any and all visible injuries. The photographs will be treated as physical evidence. If practical, the photos should be taken both prior to the application of bandages, etc., and after the injury has received appropriate medical attention

PRISONER HEALTH SCREENING (72.6.3)

The following prisoner medical "receiving screening" information will be obtained and recorded on the Field Booking Form when prisoners are booked and verified upon their transfer to another facility or release:

1. Current health and medical history of the prisoner; (72.6.3.a)
2. Medication taken by the prisoner; (72.6.3.b)
3. Known medication/drug allergies;
4. Behavior, including state of consciousness and mental status; and (72.6.3.c)
5. Body deformities, trauma markings, bruises, lesions, jaundice (a yellowness of the skin and whites of the eyes), and ease of movement (72.6.3.d)

NOTE: a copy of the Field Booking Form must be attached to the computerized Arrest Register whenever a prisoner is transferred to the City Justice Center.

112. On information and belief, the SLMPD and City of St. Louis Correctional Staff failed and/or refused to follow this policy when they provided no medical care to any of the people illegally pepper sprayed or who were hurt by the zip-cuffs.

113. Defendants' decision to ignore the policy constitutes a custom and practice of failing and/or refusing to follow this policy designed to protect the safety and wellbeing of injured individuals in police custody, showing a deliberate indifference by Defendants to the rights of Plaintiff and other injured detainees.

114. Despite this policy, at no time between their arrest and their release from the St. Louis City Justice Center did any police officer or other city official provide any arrestee with medical care or give anything to them to wash the chemical agents out of their eyes, off their bodies, or off their clothes.

I. Arrest and Charges of Kettling Victims

115. Upon their release, all of the arrestees were given summonses showing that they had been charged with “failure to disperse.” They were instructed to appear at St. Louis City Municipal Court on October 18, 2017.

116. They were charged as such even though SLMPD officers provided no means of egress, denied repeated requests to be allowed to leave, and kettled the individuals.

117. In at least one case, a person was thrown from outside of the kettle into the kettle by SLMPD and was subsequently arrested for failure to disperse.

118. The press release stated “[m]any of the demonstrators were peaceful, however after dark, the agitators outnumbered the peaceful demonstrators and the unruly crowd became a mob. Multiple businesses also sustained property damage and one officer suffered a serious injury.”

119. Eggregiously and in an attempt to further punish its victims, SLMPD publicly released the addresses of the arrestees.

120. The video evidence, as the federal court observed, “shows no credible threat of force or violence to officers or property in this mixed commercial and residential area” – much less a mob. SLMPD also fails to mention that the “one officer who suffered a serious injury” was an undercover officer who was pepper sprayed and beaten by SLMPD.

121. SLMPD used its Twitter account to disseminate this false statement to its approximately 70,000 followers. SLMPD subsequently deleted the tweet.

122. During a preliminary injunction hearing, attorneys representing the City stated that it was the policy of the City of St. Louis that once property damage occurs, SLMPD is justified in declaring an unlawful assembly and then deploying chemical agents regardless of the proximity of the target individuals in time or space to the property damage and regardless of if the people were engaged in criminal activity. According to the City, officers are justified to use chemical agents or beat and arrest anybody merely for being close to the area, even hours after the criminal activity has occurred.

123. On October 13, 2017, the St. Louis City Counselor's office issued a letter stating "[a]s of today, the City Counselor is still reviewing the evidence against you in order to decide whether or not to file charges and it is not anticipated that this decision will be made prior to October 18, 2017. Therefore, you are released from any obligation to appear in Municipal Court on October 18, 2017, in connection with the offense being considered. After a review of the matter is completed, should a decision be made to file charges against you, you will be notified by mail of that decision and advised when and where to appear to defend against those charges." See Exh. H.

J. Federal Court Injunctive Relief

124. On November 15, 2017, a judge in this District barred SLMPD from using many of the tactics described in this complaint. See Exh. I, Memorandum and Order of Preliminary Injunction, Ahmad v. St. Louis, No. 4:17-cv-02455 (E.D. Mo. Nov. 15, 2017).

125. The Court found that "[p]rotest activity began shortly after the announcement of the verdict on the morning of September 15, 2017. Protesters assembled in front of the state courthouse downtown near Tucker and Market streets. They did not have a permit to protest because the City of St. Louis does not require, and will not provide, a permit for protests.” Id. at 2.

126. The Court found that on September 17, 2017, there was some property damage downtown but Defendant Sachs “testified that he was unaware of any property damage occurring in the downtown area after 8:30 PM” Id. at 9.

127. The Court found that Defendant Rossomanno gave a dispersal order before 10:00 PM but the “this order did not specify how far protesters had to go to comply with the directive to leave the area.” Id. at 8. The Court noted that Defendant Sachs “could not say ‘exactly how far would be enough’ to comply with this, or any, dispersal order.” Id. at 8-9.

128. The Court found that Defendant Sachs “testified that around 10:00 PM the decision was made to make a mass arrest of people remaining in the area of Tucker and Washington, which is three or four blocks away from where the earlier dispersal order was given.” Id. at 9. Yet, SLMPD continued to “freely allowed people ingress into the area after the initial dispersal order was given.” Id. at 11.

129. The Court found that at approximately 11:30 PM SLMPD began a mass arrest of everyone in the vicinity even though video evidence presented to the Court “does not show a large crowd congregating in the streets” and “(n)o violent activity by protesters can be observed on the video.” Id. at 10. In fact, the “scene appears calm and most people appear relaxed.” Id. at 10-11. The only signs of disobedience seen on the video are “four to five individuals” sitting on Tucker Avenue, which was closed, and a small group of people yelling at the police. Id. at 10.

130. The video was taken from approximately 10:45 PM to the time of the arrests at 11:30 PM. Id. at 12. The Court found that no audible warning could be heard on the video. Id.

131. The video “shows an unidentified officer walking around with a hand-held fogger shooting pepper spray at the arrestees, who all appear to be on the ground and complying with police commands. This officer issues no verbal commands to any arrestee, and no arrestee on the video appears to be resisting arrest. The video shows other officers shouting at people on the ground and making threatening gestures at them with mace. An unidentified (person) lying face down on the ground is picked up by his feet by two officers and dragged across the pavement.” Id. at 15-16.

132. In an attempt to defend the SLMPD’s actions, the City’s attorney “stated during closing arguments that ‘the police have the right to tell people, at this point, we’re done for the evening; there’s no – no more assembling; this assembly is over.’” Id. at 37. Not surprisingly, the Court did not adopt this rationale as a basis for the arrests and the use of chemical agents.

133. The Court made the following findings:

a. Plaintiffs are likely to prevail on the merits of their claims that the policies or customs of defendant discussed below violate the constitutional rights of plaintiffs. Id. at 35-36.

b. Plaintiffs have presented sufficient evidence demonstrating that they are likely to prevail on their claim that defendant’s custom or policy is to permit any officer to declare an unlawful assembly in the absence of the force or violence requirement of St. Louis City Ordinance 17.16.275 and Mo. Rev. Stat. § 574.060, in violation of plaintiffs’ First and Fourth Amendment rights. Id. at 36.

c. Plaintiffs’ evidence of the activities in the Washington and Tucker intersection on September 17, 2017 shows no credible threat of force or violence to officers or property in this mixed commercial and residential area. Id. at 37. (Emphasis added).

d. Plaintiffs have presented sufficient evidence for purposes of awarding preliminary injunctive relief that defendant's custom or policy of committing discretionary authority to police officers to declare unlawful assemblies in the absence of any threat of force or violent activity provides no notice to citizens of what conduct is unlawful, and it permits officers to arbitrarily declare "there's no more assembling." Id. at 37-38. Plaintiffs have presented sufficient evidence at this stage of the proceedings that this discretion was in fact exercised in such a manner in violation of plaintiffs' constitutional rights. Id.

e. Similarly, Plaintiffs have presented sufficient evidence demonstrating that they are likely to prevail on their claim that defendant's custom or policy is to permit officers to issue vague dispersal orders to protesters exercising their first amendment rights in an arbitrary and retaliatory way and then to enforce those dispersal orders without sufficient notice and opportunity to comply before being subjected to uses of force or arrest, in violation of Plaintiffs' First and Fourth Amendment rights. Id. at 39.

f. Plaintiffs presented sufficient, credible evidence for purposes of awarding preliminary injunctive relief that defendant has a custom or policy, in the absence of exigent circumstances, of issuing dispersal orders to citizens engaged in expressive activity critical of police which are either too remote in time and/or too vaguely worded to provide citizens with sufficient notice and a reasonable opportunity to comply, inaudible and/or not repeated with sufficient frequency and/or by a sufficient number of officers to provide citizens with sufficient notice and a reasonable opportunity to comply, contradictory and inconsistent, not uniformly enforced, and retaliatory. Id. at 40.

g. Plaintiffs have also presented sufficient evidence demonstrating that they are likely to prevail on their claim that defendant has a custom or policy of using chemical agents without warning on citizens engaged in expressive activity that is critical of police or who are recording police in retaliation for the exercise of their first amendment rights, in violation of the First, Fourth, and Fourteenth Amendments. Id. at 41.

h. Plaintiffs have presented sufficient, credible testimony and video evidence from numerous witnesses that they were maced without warning in the absence of exigent circumstances while they were not engaging in violent activity and either were not in defiance of police commands (because none were given) or were complying with those commands. Id. at 42.

i. The City's custom or policy of authorizing the use of hand-held mace against non-violent protesters with no warning or opportunity to comply and in the absence of probable cause or exigent circumstances impermissibly circumvents the protections afforded by the Templeton settlement agreement and vests individual officers with unfettered discretion to exercise that authority in an arbitrary and retaliatory manner in violation of constitutional rights. Id. at 43-44.

j. Plaintiffs' evidence — both video and testimony — shows that officers have exercised their discretion in an arbitrary and retaliatory fashion to punish protesters for voicing criticism of police or recording police conduct. When all of the evidence is considered, plaintiffs have met their burden of showing that they are likely to succeed on their claim that defendant has a custom or policy of deploying hand held pepper spray against citizens engaged in recording police or in expressive activity critical of police in retaliation for the exercise of their first amendment rights, in violation of the First, Fourth, and Fourteenth Amendments. Id. 44.

k. Plaintiffs have also presented sufficient evidence at this preliminary stage of the proceedings that the aforementioned customs or policies of defendant caused the violations of plaintiff's constitutional rights. Id. 44. That is because "it is well-settled law that a loss of First Amendment freedoms, for even minimal periods of time, unquestionably constitutes irreparable injury" and "it is always in the public interest to protect constitutional rights." Phelps-Roper v. Nixon, 545 F.3d 685, 691 (8th Cir. 2008) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted), overruled on other grounds, Phelps-Roper v. City of Manchester, Mo., 697 F.3d 678 (2012). Id. 44-45.

134. Upon information and belief, senior officials of the SLMPD, including Defendants Leyshock, Boyher, Sachs, Jemerson, Karnowski, and Rossomanno, were directing such actions and conduct and/or tacitly accepting and encouraging such conduct by not preventing officers from engaging in such conduct and by not disciplining them when they did engage in such actions and conduct.

ALLEGATIONS (SPECIFIC)

135. On September 17, 2017, Ms. Davis and her friend arrived at a march that was underway in downtown St. Louis. When the march ended near the police headquarters, Ms. Davis gathered to talk to acquaintances.

136. Ms. Davis left the area near the police headquarters by bicycle to use the portable restrooms set up near the library. After using the restroom, Ms. Davis rode to her car parked on Chestnut before riding her bicycle to find the protesters again.

137. Ms. Davis caught up to the marching protesters and began walking her bicycle near the rear of the march alongside Darryck Dean from the U.S. Department of Justice's Community Relations Services.

138. Ms. Davis and Darryck Dean came upon broken flower pots but did not see or hear the pots being broken.

139. Ms. Davis did not engage in any violence or destruction of property.

140. Ms. Davis observed an individual running from the front of the march back toward Ms. Davis and yell that tear gas had been deployed at the front of the march.

141. Ms. Davis and others near the back of the march looked for an exit.

142. As Ms. Davis was leaving, she met an acquaintance who was separated from her teenage son. Ms. Davis and the woman searched for the teenager but could not find him. The teenager's mother called the police and discovered that the teenager had been detained and that he would be released if she went to pick him up. Ms. Davis went to where the teenager was detained and stayed with him until his parents arrived.

143. After reuniting the teenager with his parents, Ms. Davis bicycled to find the friends Ms. Davis left earlier in the evening.

144. It was now after 9:00 PM, and the activity downtown had virtually ceased.

145. As Ms. Davis and her friend were returning to Ms. Davis's car, they came across a police line blocking Locust east of Tucker Boulevard.

146. The police officers issued a dispersal order to the ten or fewer civilians in the area and directed them to head either north or west.

147. Ms. Davis and others turned to exit west on Locust toward Tucker but were met by a line of police vehicles blocking Tucker south of the intersection.

148. Upon meeting the line of police vehicles, Ms. Davis and others turned north on Tucker.

149. As Ms. Davis was stopped talking with friends, she heard “banging noises” and saw a line of SLMPD officers advancing from the north.

150. The sound that she heard was SLMPD officers pounding their batons in unison.

151. Ms. Davis turned away from the advancing officers and noticed another group of SLMPD officers advancing from the south.

152. After noticing SLMPD officers closing in from the north and south, Ms. Davis and others attempted to leave the area by going west on Washington.

153. Ms. Davis heard no dispersal order or commands.

154. As Ms. Davis and others were attempting to leave west on Washington, Ms. Davis encountered another set of SLMPD officers blocking the exit.

155. As Ms. Davis turned back east on Washington to Tucker, she encountered a fourth line of SLMPD officers on bicycles blocking the egress east on Washington.

156. The fourth line of SLMPD officers began shouting that everyone was being arrested.

157. Ms. Davis and her friend sat next to their bicycles.

158. The SLMPD officers began yelling at the civilians to “get down”.

159. As Ms. Davis sent a phone message to friends that she was being arrested, an SLMPD officer approached Ms. Davis, took her phone, and threw the phone to the ground.

160. A second SLMPD officer approached Ms. Davis and ripped the goggles off Ms. Davis’s face and pointed a spray can in her face while yelling unintelligibly. Ms. Davis could not hear the SLMPD officer because the officer’s full gas mask covered his face.

161. Ms. Davis tried to explain to the SLMPD officer that she could not understand his commands. Instead of listening, the SLMPD officer continued pointing the spray can at Ms. Davis's face.

162. Ms. Davis observed other civilians turning over to face the ground with their arms spread.

163. Ms. Davis inferred this was what the officer was telling at her to do, and she complied.

164. A different SLMPD officer placed Ms. Davis's hands roughly and tightly in handcuffs behind her back.

165. Ms. Davis observed her friend sitting quietly and compliantly several feet away and being sprayed repeatedly in the face by an officer.

166. Ms. Davis saw liquid running down his face and soaking into his white shirt, turning it orange.

167. Ms. Davis and the other civilians were then picked up off the ground and propped against a wall placed in a seated position with their feet out in front of them.

168. Ms. Davis was seated next to her friend, who was unable to see and was bleeding from a swollen and cut lip.

169. Ms. Davis observed her friend repeatedly ask for and be denied water and medical attention.

170. Ms. Davis overheard officers joke that her friend was covered so in pepper spray that they did not want to be the one that had to handle him.

171. Ms. Davis and others were then taken to vans to be photographed, identified, and documented.

172. Ms. Davis's arrest slip listed Sgt. Rossomanno as the arresting officer.
